Mooreville Steeple Maker Purchases Competitor

Piedmont Fiberglass, Inc. Buys Amity Fiberglass Steeples

Mooreville, NC-May 8, 2006- One of the nation's premier manufacturers of church steeples, Mooreville-based Piedmont Fiberglass, Inc., has purchased Amity Fiberglass Steeples of Stony Point, NC.

"This asset only purchase will allow Piedmont Fiberglass greater expansion in the small steeple market and further solidifies our commitment to the church products industry," says Piedmont Fiberglass president, Douglas Caudle. "Former Amity customers will now enjoy a wider selection of steeples, as well as a full line of baptismal pools," adds Caudle.

About Piedmont Fiberglass, Inc.:

Since 1972, Piedmont Fiberglass has combined "Old Fashioned Craftsmanship with Modern Composites Technology" to become a leading producer of steeples, cupolas and baptisteries. Tooling patterns are created and shaped by hand from wooden mock-ups and products use high performance fiberglass, gel-coats, and adhesives. While modern application equipment is used, our craftsmen still utilize their hands to mold, shape, and finish each steeple or baptistery.

Founded by Phares Caudle 30 years ago, PFI is now operated by Douglas Caudle from their 30,000 square foot plant in Mooreville, N.C.
